

Summary of Ethical Analysis: AUREA*

Aurea, which was built around 'Eco Huile', has recently seen its other subsidiaries increase their pace of development. It appears to be a small, but highly committed group whose business activities have hitherto been faultless. But beyond the activities which are of social benefit, the production practices observed at its long-time subsidiary 'Eco Huile', confirm its daily commitment. Also, although relatively few elements are clearly formalized from a non-financial standpoint, in general the company comes to terms with and resolves the issues on a daily basis through a process of continuous improvement. This approach, involving full commitment towards the workforce, seeks to preserve the environment while at the same time improving the production process.

There remains a lack of visibility regarding those businesses recently acquired and improvement in this area will enable us to consolidate the positive opinion generated by Eco Huile.
